

WINS APARTMENT FROM HIS NURSE

Louis K. Schwartz Also Regains Furniture After Co-operative Housekeeping Venture Fails.

Supreme Court Justice Blum to-day upheld Louis K. Schwartz, wealthy real estate operator, in his dispute with his one-time nurse, Gladys S. Whyte, over the ownership of a lease of an apartment at the Calvin Apartment Hotel, $10,000 worth of furnishings therein and a $2,500 baby grand piano. Justice Blum enjoined the pretty nurse from subleasing the apartment or from disposing of the furniture.

Miss Whyte, who opposed the petition of her erstwhile patient for the injunction, first met Schwartz in 1919 after an operation. During her attendance upon her patient she was much talk about the shortcomings of hotel life, which resulted in an arrangement for the comfort of home life in an apartment.

Schwartz told the court he leased the apartment in the Calvin, Broadway and 88th Street, for six years in the name of the nurse's mother, furnished it richly and, with his former nurse and her mother, went to housekeeping. The mother left and then Schwartz and the nurse began to disagree. The mother had transferred the lease to her daughter, with provision it should be transferred to him when the home-life arrangement should terminate.

TWO ALLEGED BOY BURGLARS CAUGHT

One Has "Kit" and Police Say He Admitted Trio Planned to Rob Store.

A boy with a bundle ran when he saw Policeman Sabbatella in West Broadway at 4 A. M. to-day, and was caught after a chase of one block. He had a lot of new blow torches, glass cutters and other things a burglar might use, which he said at first he found in an alley.

At the Mercer Street Station, the police say, he admitted he and two other boys planned to "pull off a job," and robbed the store of J. M. Roberts, electric supplies, No. 424 West Broadway, to get the tools they would need. He said he was Frank Schremp, seventeen, No. 422 West Broadway. Later the police arrested Alphonso Rossi, seventeen, No. 108 Thompson Street, and are looking for the third boy.
